

I think that it does not serve the best interest of any community for LPFM to take priorities over FM translator services. K-LOVE is a terrific FM translator service that serves me in my community where there are few to no wholesome stations to provide the kind of message and inspiration that K-LOVE does. It allows me to hear the kind of message that I am not able to receive on the few other stations that come into my community. Because of our location, not very many stations are available anyway, so to remove one that does come in well would be a shame, especially one that helps to establish some sound guidance and values to my kids.
